EDITORIAL

It gives me great joy and a humble sense of fulfilment to bring you the third edition of the Ambrose Alli University Journal of Medical Research (AAU-JMR). This is a university based journal that aims to publish high impact papers in the areas of medical research. However it does not exclude papers based on novelty that are technically correct. Useful reports of negative results are equally welcome. This journal is a quality controlled, transparent peer-reviewed and open-access international journal.

The AAU-JMR publishes scientific information in all areas of Medical Science, including articles, case reports, editorials, short communication and also review reports, all in their original form. In order to guarantee originality, all submissions are peer reviewed before being fowarded for publication. Officially, this task falls in the primary brief of the Editorial Board along with referees in the appropriate specialties. Submissions for publication are welcome from within and outside the country. Researches from the entirety of the Basic Medical Sciences, Clinical and Laboratory Sciences and Allied Medicine are areas from which the Journal will be glad to welcome articles.

For this third edition, the nine published papers are drawn from the fields of Physiology, Anatomy, Forensic Science, Medical Biochemistry, and Drugs and Ethnopharmacology. As we prepare for the third edition, and in-lieu of the complexities of real-life issues, we will consider the practicability of seeking more contributions which demonstrate potentials for application in the real world with special consideration given to those with a multi-disciplinary tilt.

I wish to on behalf of the Editorial Board, express my gratitude to the authors, editors, reviewers and volunteers, whose contributions were given liberally and openheartedly in order to ensured the success of this edition.

The AAU-JMR is committed to providing a platform for manuscripts which receives top-priority recommendation during the peer-review process while those with medium priority will be considered on a case by case basis. Quick publication of high impact articles is a policy which the Board still upholds. I need to reiterate our commitment to publishing all discoveries, resources, methods and reviews which significantly advance the field of medico-scientific knowledge.

Thank you for partaking in this edition, wishing you happy reading.
